About Matthias

The goal: To restore the natural balance between human and horse by respecting both identities. Striving for the horse's utmost freedom by acknowledging its nature and adjusting its care. Communication problems are the cause of many social and relationship issues between people, but also between man and horse.

"I teach you how to handle your horse in a calm way, starting by respecting yourself and your horse. I love to take you on a trip that explores the pure connection between horse and man. A relationship of trust opens the world for both of you." Matthias Geysen

Clinic format

Matthias will present his philosophy and way of working with horses.

a.m. Matthias will work with each horse in order to show how to connect with every breed and horse character.

p.m. Matthias will work on an individual basis with the participants in order to observe the relationship between the rider and the horse.

Specific objectives chosen by everyone, will be defined in order to improve the rider / horse relationship.

Focus on groundwork exercises. Participants can also choose from the following:-

- to tackle problem behaviour;
- to improve their riding skills with or without a saddle;
- to learn how to ride with a neck rope;
- to learn how to ride with a bit-less bridle;
- to learn how to ride without reins, just with body language.
