Course Description – Progress in Performance

Tik is a fresh and dynamic young horseman with a glowing future. He has been earmarked as Canada's rising star and tipped to change the face of competitive eventing. His empathy with horses and humans alike and his charismatic nature, make him an impressive trainer.

His following in the UK has grown since his first clinic and demo here in 2014, seeing him in Scotland as well as England in 2015, 2016 and 2017, also featuring in and writing for Chiltern and Thames Rider and Horsemanship Journal magazines.

Tik writes regularly for a number of US publications, including The Chronicle of the Horse, Practical Horseman and eventingnation.com. In 2018, his first book 'In the Middle are the Horsemen', was published in the US and the UK.

Amongst his many other credits, Tik also won the Freestyle, out of more than 200 trainers entered from across the globe, at the Retired Racehorse Project's Thoroughbred Makeover Competition and National Symposium, both in 2015 and 2018, showing off his flair for making connections with horses and getting the best out of them, whilst developing them for performance. Watch the video of his winning performance in 2015 at the bottom of the page...
